A	Writer 1 I have always loved reading people's diaries in the form of memories. Their life experience can be a great teaching. Hence, I have started writing a diary. I always bring along by notebook and a pen in my bag. I write anything that I feel it is worth to be recorded at that moment. Sometimes, I write down important dates or events in my diary so that I do not forget.
B	Writer 2 I started writing a diary when I was ten years old. I used to write about things that happened in school and at home. They were a mix of happy, frustrating and embarrassing moments in my life. However, I stopped writing at the age of 11 when I caught my brother reading my diaries.
C	Writer 3 I have started writing a diary again after a few years. I stopped when the lessons were getting tougher and the schoolwork was taking up more of my time. I can't wait to document the good and the bad moments, the people I have met and the food that I have tried. I missed writing a diary.
