One day, Hugo and Amelie go to the beach. They have a picnic and they collect shells. Then they see a woman. They follow her. They hide behind some rocks and watch her. She digs on the beach.

'Excuse me, what are you doing?' asks Hugo. 'Are you collecting shells?'

'Hello, I'm Christine. No, I'm not collecting shells. I'm looking for fossils,' says the woman. 'I study fossils and draw pictures in my notebook.'

'Great!' says Amelie. 'Can we help you?'

'Yes, of course,' says Christine.

They all look for fossils together. They find rocks and shells. Then they find a dinosaur fossil! Hugo and Amelie take the fossil home and draw a picture of it.
