

There is... / There are...

A. What is there in the box? Make sentences with There is / There are / There isn't / There aren't as in the example:

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a keyboard • toy cars • apples • a pen • a teddy bear • a lamp • a schoolbag • three pencils • books • a fish • dogs • a picture
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

There is a keyboard in the box.

There aren't any toy cars in the box.

B. What is there in the bedroom? Write questions with Is there...? / Are there...? and give short answers with Yes, there is / No, there isn't / Yes, there are / No, there aren't as in the example

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • two clocks • a cat • a desk • a bed • eleven pictures • a dress • a dollhouse • three windows • a ball • a boy • a red chair • five maps
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

- Are there two clocks in the bedroom?

- Yes, there are.

- Is there a cat in the bedroom?

- No, there isn't.

-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-

-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-