

Inference Riddles

1) I have a face and two hands, but no legs. I tick every second. I usually hang on a wall for all to see.

Text Evidence	Schema	Inference

2) I get wetter as I dry, but I start out warm and fluffy. You want me after a bath.

Text Evidence	Schema	Inference

3) Everyone has it, but no one can lose it. It comes out in the light. It will follow you wherever you go!

Text Evidence	Schema	Inference

4) It belongs to you, but is most used by others. Your mother & father probably chose it. Your teacher almost always uses it when you're up to no good!

Text Evidence	Schema	Inference

Inference Riddles 2

1) I have a thumb and four fingers, but I'm not alive. You use me during tough work or perhaps to catch a baseball.

Text Evidence	Schema	Inference

2) I have all the knowledge you have, but I'm as tiny as your fists. I rest when you rest. You grow me every time you learn and use me every time you think.

Text Evidence	Schema	Inference

3) It has a single eye, but it cannot see. You may use it to fix a button or a rip in your pants. Careful, it can be super sharp!

Text Evidence	Schema	Inference

4) You can catch me, but you cannot throw me. Breathing in someone's sneeze can help you catch me. I love to travel from person to person!

Text Evidence	Schema	Inference