Dear Sandra,

Hi, how are you? I hope things are well with you. A week has passed since our summer camp ended, and I still miss the fun I had there. One of the wonderful things that I loved about attending summer camp was making new friends like you. I had so much fun playing in a band with you. We will get busy once school starts next month, but let's keep in touch. I hope I can see you again at summer camp next year.

Write me back!

Your friend,
Jessica

Dear Officer Keep,

I just want to say thank you very much for catching the thief who stole my purse. I always knew that police officers did many things to keep our community safe and help the people in the community. However, I never thought my purse could get stolen at a coffee shop, and that I could actually use your help to find it. I don't know how to thank you enough for all your help.

Thank you again for everything.

Sincerely,
Lydia Williams

12. Why did Lydia write a letter?

Read a story about Leona. Answer questions 22 to 25.

Spring came, and Leona saw flowers blooming in her backyard. "There are more flowers and trees in the park, and they look prettier than the ones in my backyard now," she thought to herself. "I should ask Jasmine to go on a picnic with me." Leona picked up the phone and called her friend, Jasmine.

"Hello?" Jasmine answered.

"Hi, this is Jasmine's friend Leona. May I speak to Jasmine, please?" Leona asked.

"Hi, Leona. What's up?" said Jasmine.

"Hi, Jasmine. Do you want to go on a picnic in the park with me tomorrow?" asked Leona.

"Sure, we can have sandwiches and fruit salad for lunch and play with my puppy," answered Jasmine.

The next morning, Leona was very excited. When she was almost finished packing her bag, the phone rang.

"Hi, Leona. I am really sorry, but I don't think I can go to a picnic with you. I have come down with a cold."

"Oh, OK. Well, take care then." Leona was disappointed, but she did not tell her friend that. While she was unpacking her bag in the kitchen, she had an idea.

"I should make chicken soup for Jasmine." With her mother's help, Leona made a hot and yummy chicken soup and took it with a get-well card to Jasmine's house.

The next day in school, Jasmine was all better.

"Thank you very much for the chicken soup. It was very delicious."

"You're welcome. Are you all better now?" Leona asked.

"Yes, do you want to go to the park with me this Sunday? My mom will make enough sandwiches and fruit salad for us," asked Jasmine.

"Wow. That's nice. I can't wait!" Leona almost shouted with happiness. It was not only Jasmine who felt much better.

Read about a day in an art class. Answer questions 30 to 33.

"We are going to do some watercolor painting today. Please draw a sketch of your favorite animal first. Then wet your paintbrush with water and color the animal any color you like," the art teacher said.

"I'm going to draw my pet dog, Lily." Christina drew her dog on her sketchbook. Then she started to color her pet dog.

A few minutes later, Christina realized that something had gone wrong.

"Oh no, what's happening to my picture?" The paints seemed to be spreading all over her sketchbook. She could not clearly see the face of her pet dog anymore.

"My sketchbook is wet now. What should I do?" Christina mumbled to herself. Then her teacher came.

"You were supposed to give some time for the paper to dry before you painted with another color," the teacher explained.

"I didn't realize that I was using too much water on my sketchbook. Can I try it again? Mrs. Weaver?" Christina asked her teacher, so she could draw a new one.

"Yes, you may try as many times as you want," the teacher said.

"I will not make the same mistake again. I will make sure my sketchbook gets all dried this time." Then Christina began drawing her pet dog again.
