Cats Make Wonderful Pets!

There are certain points to consider before you decide to get a cat. First of all, be prepared to spend time with your cat. Although cats don´t have a closer relationship with humans than most other pets, they still require attention and care. Cats have their own different characters and their own special habits and choices. It is a good idea to prepare yourself with some basic knowledge about cats before you get one.

As distant as they may be, cats really love to play. But cats usually don´t fetch like dogs; don´t just throw a ball to your cat and expect it to be entertained. Cats like to be spoiled by humans. They like to have "communication" with you. Spend time playing and having contact with your cat.

Cats show their love to you not only through making their typical sounds, but also by touching your arms, legs, or another part of your body. If you are new to cats and you don´t know this, you may think they want to hurt you. However,it is just friendly play.

They probably love to see what is going on around them more than other pets. They do this by jumping to high places like a sofa, cupboard, or table to keep an eye on you and what you´re doing.

Cats love to have sharp nails, so buying a cushion for your cat will keep your furniture safe. In order to avoid any damage, keep your cat´s nails short and train it to use the cushion. This will save you money and lots of headaches in the future.

A SOCIAL EXPERIMENT IN ONEIDA, NEW YORK

In the nineteenth century there was a village called Oneida in New York State where a "family" of 300 members lived together in a large beautiful house where they shared everything.

A man named John Humphrey Noyes, and a small group of people moved there in 1848. They wanted a place where they could live according to their particular beliefs in their efforts to create a more equal society.

Today, this place is touristic and, like me, many visitors come because they had relatives among those 19th century dreamers. Others just want to see for themselves the building where this successful social group in American history lived. "I don't know of anywhere else where you can live in a historical place," said the director of the Oneida site. "It's very unusual."

The present owners share the building with guests who stay in large comfortably furnished bedrooms with private baths. There are eight guest rooms in the hotel area, and each guest pays $100 for a big bedroom, a simple breakfast and a private tour of the 10,300-square-meter building, which also contains 35 apartments.

The library and the building's grounds are also open to guests, as well as several of the public rooms. The 170-year-old library, unchanged from the original construction, holds a rich collection of 19th century books and magazines, which learners used to study Latin, Greek, algebra and astronomy.

This place is open for everybody and it's worth a visit.
