Gillian's first day at school

I can remember my first day at school very well. All the new children went into the classroom with their mothers and then the teacher told the mothers to leave. Then all the children started to cry. I didn't cry because I wanted to be a 'big' girl and go to school like my older sister and brother. After the mothers left, the teacher said, 'Now children, stand up, put your hands together, close your eyes and we'll say a prayer.'

I stood up, put my hands together and I said the prayer. But I was four and I was excited so I didn't want to close my eyes - I wanted to look.

When the prayer finished, the teacher told me to go to the front of the class. Then she started shouting, 'This girl did not close her eyes when we said the prayer.'

At that moment all the other children were not crying, but I was! The teacher told me to stand in the corner of the room. Just then I thought: 'The teacher saw me, so her eyes were open too. So why isn't she standing in the corner?'

After that I didn't want to be 'big' like my brother and sister. I didn't want to go to school again!
