

Reading Comprehension Test 1

Paragraph:

Actually, students in the classroom often find themselves facing various challenges. One of the biggest hurdles can be the temptation to put off assignments until the last minute. However, those who embrace the saying "the early bird catches the worm" tend to fare better academically. By tackling their tasks early, these students manage their time more effectively and avoid the stress of last-minute cramming. In this local college, many students get along well with their peers and professors, creating a supportive learning environment. The strong sense of community helps everyone feel more connected and motivated, and teamwork fits perfectly in our institution.
