Fluency
_____

1. I think she plays the lottery.
   She _used to_ play the lottery.
   I don't know why she doesn't play the lottery _anymore_.

2. I think he is a very responsible person.

3. They always go to art galleries.

4. I think the prices are very low.

5. Customers give very good tips.

6. He goes for a walk every morning.

7. She studies a lot.

8. He works for a multinational company.

9. They go out all the time.

10. He plays for the college team.

Ask your friend
_____

1. If he / she usually goes to art galleries.
2. If he / she knows any famous artist.
3. What he / she would do, if he / she won the lottery.
4. When he / she was born.
5. Where he / she was born.
6. If he / she enjoys eating seafood.
7. If he / she gets disappointed easily.
8. If he / she is pleased with his / her current job.
9. If he / she gets nervous during tests or job interviews.
10. What the most important thing that happened in the world in the past decade.

Dialogue

At a restaurant

Hostess:	Hi, how are you this everning?
Sam:	Fine, thanks.
Hostess:	Do you have a reservation?
Sam:	No, we don't.
Hostess:	Okay. How many are in your party?
Sam:	There are four of us. How long is the wait?
Hostess:	We don't have any open tables right now, it will be about a twenty minute wait, is that okay?
Sam:	Is there any open seating at the bar?
Hostess:	Yes, there is. I can seat you right away. Follow me please.

Improve your Intonation

1. I didn't tell the police he stole the red car.
2. I didn't tell the police he stole the red car.
3. I didn't tell the police he stole the red car.
4. I didn't tell the police he stole the red car.
5. I didn't tell the police he stole the red car.
6. I didn't tell the police he stole the red car.
7. I didn't tell the police he stole the red car.
8. I didn't tell the police he stole the red car.
9. I didn't tell the police he stole the red car.
10. I didn't tell the police he stole the red car.

Role Play

Situation: You are at a restaurant with your friends.
One person will be the waiter and the other, the customer.
The customer should order different dishes while the waiter should make several suggestions.
Then exchange roles.