

48 The Library

A library is a building or a room that contains a large collection of books and other materials for people to read, borrow or refer. Beside books, the other materials may include films, recorded music, maps, books, e-books, audiobooks etc.

Given below are some of the greatest libraries of the world. Write the name of the city where each of them is located using the help card :

It is the largest library in Asia and the world's second largest library which contains over 26 million volumes.

It is the largest library in India. It is situated at the Belvedere House, which was the former residence of the viceroy of India.

It is the research library in the United Kingdom. Established in 1602, it is the oldest library in Europe.

It is a research library in the USA. With more than 32 million volumes, It is the largest library in the world.

It is the national library of the United Kingdom. It is the largest library in terms of item collection, which is over 150 million.

It is a large library in Iran which holds over 1.1 million volumes. Established before 1457. It contains numerous works on Islamic history.

BOOST UP

A catalogue is a systematic list of all the materials available in a library. The purpose of it is to enable a person to find a book easily.

Kolkata, Beijing, Mashhad, Washington DC, Oxford, London