TEXT 2

Read the comment the mother of a child actor makes in this blog.

Read the text.

Parents of child actors: remember it's a marathon, not a short race.

Hello parents of young actors. Do you remember the story of The Hare and the Tortoise? In this story, the tortoise wins the race¹ because it works slowly but makes a big effort and it never stops. In other words, the moral² is: in life we can get what we want when we work hard.

A child's acting career is similar to that classic fable.

Why? What is the connection between the fable of The Hare and the Tortoise and the career of a child actor?

The career of a child actor is like a long marathon. It is not short, quick race. So to continue acting for many years, a child actor needs to work slowly but continuously and very hard.

Parents of young actors need to help their children use this method to plan their careers. Like the tortoise, they should do things slowly but surely³. Of course, it is a long process, but children can feel happy and enjoy it.

At home we are helping our daughter to have an acting career following the tortoise method: moving slowly and working hard. She is happy and doing well. We celebrate the little things that happen to her. As a family, we all celebrate her progress together. Also, we spend time with her, we play, meet friends and have fun. Not everything is about her acting career.

So, dear parents of young actors, is your son or daughter starting an acting career? Do you want your child to be happy in the future? Then you must give your son or daughter the time they need to run their marathon, just like the tortoise in the fable.

³ slowly but surely: lento pero seguro.
