

I can cook potatoes!

I can't cook difficult meals with lots of ingredients. But I can cook potatoes! Potatoes are a fantastic vegetable. They're easy to cook and there are lots of ways to cook them. You can boil them and put butter on them. You can cut them up and fry them to make chips. You can bake them and eat them with cheese. Very easy!

English people eat a lot of potatoes but my favourite potato recipe is from Switzerland. It's called rosti. It's easy and very quick – ten minutes! The ingredients are two potatoes and half an onion. Grate the potatoes and onion and mix in a bowl. Add salt and pepper. Squeeze out some water. Then put some oil in a frying pan. Add the potatoes and onion to the hot oil. After a few minutes, turn over the rosti and continue to cook.

You can eat rosti with meat, eggs or salad. You can put cheese in it too! Delicious! Thank you, Switzerland!

1 _____

3 _____

2 _____

4 Read the blog again. Answer the questions.

- 1 How many ideas for cooking potatoes are there in the text?

- 2 Where is rosti from?

- 3 What are the ingredients for rosti?

- 4 How long is it to cook rosti?

- 5 How many things can you eat with rosti?
