I/ Read and Fill in each blank with ONE word from the passage. (5 pts)

Nowadays, teenagers seem to communicate with their peers more on electronic devices than in person . They chat with their friends using messaging applications and social networking sites . They chat about almost everything, from homework and games to music trends. Their conversations tend to be short but can last for hours . Many teenagers prefer this way of communicating to talking face to face . They say that it is more convenient and they can do many things while chatting.
