Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 39 to 43.

You have probably never heard of Charles Burgess Fry (1872-1956), but in England he was the greatest all-round sportsman of his time, and perhaps of any time. He became famous while still at university, mainly on account of his achievements in sport. He was at the same time captain of the university football, cricket and athletics teams and held the world record for the long jump. He was also a popular sports journalist. He was so famous that letters addressed to Mr. Fry Oxford were delivered to him without any difficulty. His college, although it had quite a different name, was known as Fry's College.

Some people have criticized Fry's sporting achievements. They point out that he lived at a time when standards were quite low and it was much easier to do well in several sports. It is certainly true that athletes of that time did not have the totally dedicated approach of modern athletes. However, it is fair to judge him by the standards of his own time. There is no doubt that he had extraordinary skills combined with an ability to write about sports with style and intelligence.

39. It can be inferred from the passage that in the early years of _____, C.B Fry was the most famous man in England.
A. the 18th century B. the 19th century C. the 20th century D. the 21st century
40. Thanks to _____, C.B Fry became well-known while he was at university.
A. his name B. his success in sports
C. his world record D. his journalistic career
41. According to the passage, C.B Fry was excellent at all of the following sports EXCEPT _____.
A. cricket B. football C. tennis D. athletics
42. The word "criticized" in the passage is closest in meaning to _____.
A. dispraised B. blamed C. complained D. attacked
43. The author's tone in the passage is best described as _____.
A. persuasive B. despondent C. informative D. concerned

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 44 to 50.

It is normal for you to feel jittery when you are being interviewed for a job, particularly in a stress-producing situation. In fact, there are many jobs where a little nervousness isn't looked at askance. Right before attending the interview, it does help to dry a damp brow or clammy hand, but otherwise, don't be too concerned about the outward manifestations of your nervousness. Experienced interviewers will discount most physical signs of nervousness. The only one that people have a hard time ignoring is a fidgety hand. Interviewees who constantly twist their hands or make movements that are dramatically distracting are calling to their nervousness.

Remember that during the interview, employers talk to the applicant in order to determine whether or not he or she is suitable for the job, not because they enjoy embarrassing uneasy applicants. One way to overcome a flustered feeling, or "butterflies in the stomach", is to note that interviewers want to evaluate potential employees and select the most desirable applicants. If employers think you fit into their company or organization, you will be the one who is sought after. An interview also allows the candidate to assess the corporate culture and demands of the job. It is almost as if you are interviewing them to see if they are good enough for you.

44. The word "jittery" in the passage is closest in meaning to _____.
 A. excited B. nervous C. uncomfortable D. awkward
45. According to the passage, nervousness about a job interview is _____.
 A. common B. avoidable

47. According to the passage, the outward sign of nervousness that most attracts the interviewer's attention is _____.
 A. a damp brow B. clammy hands
 C. restless hand movements D. jittery stomach
48. According to the passage, an interviewer is someone who _____.
 A. is looking for signs of nervousness B. seeks facts from perspective employees
 C. has already hired potential candidates D. is always on the lookout for applicants
49. The phrase "butterfly in the stomach" is closest in meaning to _____.
 A. aggressiveness B. sufferings C. nervous feeling D. intense feeling
50. It can be inferred from the passage that overcoming nervousness is a matter of _____.
 A. being in the right place at the right time
 B. opinion and beliefs
