One to watch!

Essay by Jessica Bourne, aged 14

I'm a big fan of films featuring the spy James Bond. I've got most of them on DVD. We've recently bought Quantum of Solace, in which Daniel Craig plays the part of Bond. I don't know why the film's got that name - but it's a great movie, anyway.

All the actors who've played James Bond have been great, but Daniel Craig, who's made lots of other films, plays the part better than any of them. Even though he doesn't talk very much, I think he's the most perfect actor for the role. He even does a few of the more dangerous things in the film himself, instead of getting someone else to do them. I did wonder sometimes whether he'd be clever enough to defeat the bad people - but I'm not going to tell you the ending! The actress who stars with Craig gives a fantastic performance too - I loved all the glamorous clothes she wore!

The director probably had a hard job making this Bond film as full of action as earlier ones. But the excitement starts right at the beginning here, with a car chase along a mountain road, and plenty of other thrilling scenes, too - Bond leaping off tall buildings and so on. Unfortunately I found the story difficult to follow in places, and it also seemed to be over very quickly - it lasted under two hours. I also felt there weren't as many jokes as in the old Bond films. And where was all the ridiculous Bond equipment - the underwater car or exploding watch that everyone laughed at? This is a more serious, darker Bond film, but I still really enjoyed it.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 44 to 50.

Virtually any night of the year, a person can look up at the sky and see the moon. The moon is Earth's only natural satellite. It takes slightly more than twenty-seven days for it to orbit Earth. And it does so from a little more than 380,000 kilometres away. Despite being Earth's closest celestial neighbour, there is much about the moon that scientists do not know.

For instance, no one is exactly sure when the moon was formed. Earth is estimated to have been created around 4.5 billion years ago. No later than 100,000 years after that, the moon was in orbit around Earth. Yet the question remains: How did the moon form? There are several theories, but astronomers have thus far failed to prove any of them correct.

The most widely accepted idea is the collision theory. It states that the moon formed when an object crashed into Earth. According to this hypothesis, when Earth was first created, it had no satellite. But, at some point in time, an object approximately the size of Mars collided with Earth. This caused part of the planet to break off. The largest part eventually transformed into the moon

Another theory is that Earth and the moon formed at the exact same time billions of years ago. However, many astronomers discount this theory. They point out that Earth and the moon are comprised of different substances. They claim that if the two bodies were formed at the same time, then they should be composed of the same materials. Yet, as an example of their differences, the moon has much less iron than Earth does.

A third theory proposes that the moon formed somewhere else in the solar system. As it wandered past Earth, it was captured by Earth's gravity and began to orbit the planet. A fourth theory declares that, when it first formed, Earth spun much more rapidly than it does at the present time. Due to its swift rotation, part of the crust was stripped away from the planet and cast into space. This material then formed the moon.

Each of the four theories has its supporters and detractors. Thus far, however, no astronomer has been able to prove one theory while disproving all of the others.

44. Which of the following statements does paragraph 1 support?
    A. The moon's distance from Earth changes at times.
    B. There are many satellites that are orbiting Earth.
    C. The moon is always visible in the night sky.
    D. No natural objects are closer to Earth than the moon.
45. In line 10, the phrase "crashed into" is closest in meaning to _____.
    A. hit B. passed C. interfered with D. affected
46. According to the text, what is true regarding the collision theory?
    A. It points out that Earth's orbit changed a great deal.
    B. It is believed by the greatest number of astronomers.
    C. It states that Earth once had multiple satellites.
    D. It declares that Mars collided with Earth at one point.
47. Why do many astronomers doubt that Earth and the moon formed at the same time?
    A. The moon more likely came from elsewhere in the solar system.
    B. Earth and the moon are formed of different materials.
    C. There is not enough iron in the Earth's crust.
    D. The chances of two objects forming close together are small.
48. In line 18, the word "it" refers to _____.
    A. the solar system B. the planet's gravity C. a fourth theory D. Earth
49. The last theory suggests that the Moon was _____.
    A. a result of a collision between Mars and the Earth
    B. roughly the same size and mass of the Earth
    C. made of the Earth's peeled outer layer
    D. formed somewhere in the solar system
50. What would be the best title for the passage?
    A. The Moon: Everything You Need to Know about It
    B. The Changing Phases of the Moon
    C. Theories on the Creation of the Moon
    D. How Long Ago Did the Moon Form?
