Young people's holiday activities

Sarah

Sarah likes holidays by the sea where she can rest all day. She doesn't like doing sports or going sightseeing. She likes to go to bed early in the evening and wake up late in the morning. When she wakes up, she goes to the beach and stays there all day, until about 5 p.m. She usually travels with her friends, so she spends most of her day talking to them. At lunchtime she only has a sandwich and some orange juice. In the evening she goes back to her hotel to have a shower and change clothes. She then goes into town with her friends where they have supper at a local or a fast food restaurant.

Jane

Jane loves going on holiday to places which have a lot of old buildings. Before each journey, she always likes to buy a guidebook so she knows where she can go and what things to see. She especially likes looking around old castles and learning about how people lived hundreds of years ago. Jane also likes to look around different museums. To eat a meal she will always go to restaurants which cook local food. She hates eating burgers and other unhealthy snacks.

Gemma

Gemma is a great fan of dangerous sports. Every time she goes on holiday, she likes doing some very dangerous activities. One of the activities she likes is climbing up the side of a high mountain without any help. She also likes going on a small boat down a very fast and dangerous river. She tries to do a different dangerous activity every day when she's on holiday. She tries to be careful but once she ended her holiday in hospital and was taken home in an ambulance.

Questions 14 – 18

For each question, choose the correct answer.

Archie Campbell talks about computer games

I started playing computer games when I was seven years old. My parents didn't let me have a computer so I used to go to my cousin's house and play games on his computer when his mum and dad were at work. My parents would have been very angry if they had known that.

My cousin Freddie showed me how to play games that older children usually play and he said that I was much better than most of his friends who were three years older than me. I was going to ask my parents again for a computer but he told me to wait for another year, at least.

Then I started to have computer lessons at school. That was when everything changed. I learned how to make programmes and I started to make my own games with my cousin's help. From that time, I knew that making games was all I would ever want to do.

I didn't say anything to my parents for a long time. Freddie's parents didn't know what we were doing, either. Then one evening it was parents' day at my school and my computer teacher told them that I had a brilliant future making computer games.

Now I am 20 and I enjoy student life. I have already sold one game to a small computer company but I don't have much time to make games now because I have a lot of exams soon. However, two computer companies have said they want to talk to me as soon as I leave university because they want me on their team.

14. Archie played computer games only at his cousin's house because
- A. his cousin had two computers in his house.
 - B. his parents hadn't bought him a computer.
 - C. his mum had asked him to do so.
15. What did Freddie say to Archie?
- A. that he was very clever
 - B. not to waste his time playing games
 - C. to ask his parents to buy him a computer
16. What happened when Archie had computer lessons at school?
- A. He stopped playing computer games.
 - B. He didn't want to go to his cousin's house anymore.
 - C. He understood what job he wanted to do in the future.
17. Archie's parents found out about his computer games from
- A. his computer teacher.
 - B. Freddie's parents.
 - C. his cousin.
18. What does Archie do now?
- A. work for a computer company
 - B. continue to earn money making games
 - C. study computers at university
