I/ Read the email and answer the questions.

A map is a representation of a place. It's got a scale and a legend. A scale of 1:100,000 means that one centimeter on the map equals 100,000 centimeters, or one kilometer, in the place.

There are some symbols in the legend. An area with green trees is a forest, a blue line is a river. A black dotted line is a path. There is a small black triangle and a number for a hill. The number – for example 112 – means that the hill is 112 meters high. Red lines are roads, and a railway is a black line with smaller lines on it. A black circle on a railway is a train station. A red area is a city or town. Next to the red area is the name of the city.
