READING

Read the text and answer the questions.

The internet is a large network that connects millions of computers, phones, and other devices around the world. It allows people to share information, communicate, and find almost anything they want, like videos, music, or news. You can use the internet to send emails, chat with friends, watch movies, or even learn new things.

There are different ways to connect to the internet. One common way is through cables, which connect your computer or device to the internet. Another way is wireless, like Wi-Fi, where you can connect without using any cables. Many people also use mobile data on their phones to connect to the internet when they are not at home.

The internet works by sending tiny pieces of information, called data, from one device to another. This happens very quickly, often in less than a second. For example, when you click on a website, the data travels from the website's server to your device, showing the page you want to see.

The internet is very important in our daily lives. We use it for work, school, and fun. It helps us stay connected with people around the world and find information whenever we need it.

- a. What can you do with the internet?

- b. What three types of connections does the text mention?

- c. Why is the internet important in our everyday activities?

WRITING

Choose 1 situation to write your text.

1. Imagine you are in a different country and you need to write an email to make a reservation to get an internet connection at your temporary house you're renting. You need to include the location, the timetable you have available and ask a question.

2. Write a paragraph for a blog about the internet. This paragraph should include different ways of using the internet on our everyday activities and what kind of connections you use at home and outside your house.
