Read the text and answer the questions.

On 23 January 1996, Munish Bansal took a photo of his new baby daughter Suman. Every day after that, Munish took another photo of his daughter, sometimes in the morning, sometimes in the afternoon.

Sometimes Suman was tired or sad and she didn't want to look at the camera, but she was usually happy.

From one day to the next Suman didn't change a lot, but every year she grew or changed a little.

On her eighteenth birthday, 6,575 days after she was born, Munish took a photo of his daughter as usual. But in this photo, she was an adult.

Munish collected all of the 6,575 photos, made one big picture from them and gave it to her as a present.
