Part I.

Instruction: Draw a line to match each cause on the left with its effect on the right.

Maibon refuses to listen to his wife's warnings.

Maibon asks for the stone from the dwarf to grant him immortality.

Maibon starts to realize that immortality isn't bringing him happiness.

Maibon becomes frustrated with the dwarf when he realizes that the stone isn't working as he had hoped.

Maibon eventually decides to let go of the stone.

He attempts multiple times to get rid of the stone, but it keeps returning to him.

Life begins to return to normal. His crops start growing again, his family is happier, and Maibon learns a valuable lesson.

He keeps the stone, and their household begins to fall apart.

Everything around him stops progressing. No milk, no crops, and nothing seems to change.

His frustration grows as he realizes that keeping the stone has made his life worse, not better.
