UNIT 3: TEENAGERSREADING*VII. Read the passage and decide whether the statements are true (T) or false (F).

Team sport is one of the activities that teenagers are most interested in nowadays. Here are some of the benefits that team sport can provide teenagers.

Firstly, it is a great way to keep teenagers healthy. A football player can run up to 10 km during a match. A basketball player can usually jump and run at the same time. All of the activities involved help them stay focused and energetic for school. Secondly, team sport motivates students' schoolwork. If a student's grades are not good enough, he might be discouraged from joining the school team. If he wants to continue to play sport, he needs to improve his study at school. Thirdly, teamwork in sport helps students become more cooperative because it requires everyone to work together. Everyone has the feeling that all of them play an important role in their team. Lastly, playing sport regularly helps students cope with stress, calms them down and helps them balance their emotions as well as overcome their difficulties.

| Statements | T | F |
|--|---|---|
| 1. Playing team sport is one of the most popular activities amongst teenagers. | | |
| 2. Only individual sport can motivate the students' performances at school. | | |
| 3. A student might not be encouraged to participate in the school team if his schoolwork is not good enough. | | |
