A Waiter

I work as a waiter. My job is to take orders from customers and bring their food to the table. I like this job because I meet new people every day, and I enjoy talking to them. It feels good when customers are happy with their food and service. I also like working with my co-workers, and we help each other when it gets busy. Sometimes, the job is a little hard because I stand and walk a lot, and carrying heavy plates can be tiring. When the restaurant is very busy, it can also be stressful. But I like that I stay active and never feel bored. The tips from customers are also nice, and they help me make extra money. Overall, I enjoy my job as a waiter because I like serving people and making their dining experience good.
