

Indicate anaphoric or cataphoric reference.

1. When a farmer introduces a new enterprise into an existing system, he faces the enterprise development stages.
2. Because it is new, the enterprise has to face five stages: establishment, survival, early growth, rapid growth, maturity (and possible decline).
3. When they establish an enterprise, many farmers need assistance from banks or other agencies.
4. Since it is produced for the first time, the product requires especial attention on production and marketing.
5. Many new enterprises do not survive the first season of production and marketing. Those that survive enter the survival stage.
6. If it survives the first stage, the new enterprise has short-term viability.