

1- Unscramble the letter to form the words.

"Three Days to See" – Helen Keller

Imagine not being able to see or _____ (reah) for a few days. Helen Keller, who was blind and deaf, thought this would be a good experience for everyone. It would help us appreciate our senses more. Helen Keller often asked her seeing _____ (rifends) what they saw when they went for walks. They usually said they didn't see anything _____ (pesacil). But Helen, who couldn't see, found lots of interesting things to _____ (chout). She felt the shapes of leaves, the smooth bark of trees, and the soft feathers of _____ (ribsd). Helen dreamed about what she would see if she could have her _____ (tighs) for just three days. On the first day, she wanted to see her friends and _____ (lifamy). She wanted to understand their feelings better by looking into their _____ (yees). On the second day, she wanted to visit _____ (umeumss) and see the history of the world. On the third day, she wanted to _____ (pelorex) the city and understand how people live. Helen's story teaches us to appreciate our _____ (ensses) and to use them to the fullest.

2- VOCABULARY: Match the words to their meanings.

Symmetry

Awakening

Intoxicate

Delicate

Splendour

Revelation

Compassionate

a. A feeling of being very interested or attracted to something

b. The arrangement of parts to be balanced and equal

c. Being aware of something new

d. To make someone excited, almost like being drunk

e. Very fine and easily damaged

f. Impressive beauty or richness

g. An eye-opening discovery

3- Complete the sentences using the words in the box.

- The beauty of the sunset was full of _____.
- After learning about his friend's struggles, he felt more _____ towards others.
- The first buds on the trees in spring symbolize the _____ of nature.
- The artist was inspired by the perfect _____ of the butterfly's wings.
- The excitement of seeing the ocean for the first time could _____ anyone with joy.

4- What did you learn from the essay?

5- What would you do if you were stricken blind and deaf?