

SPAIN'S RELIEF AND RIVERS

Write the names of the mountains and rivers.

True or false?

The Submeseta Sur is divided in two by the Montes de Toledo.

The Pyrenees form a barrier between Portugal and Spain.

The Cordillera Cantábrica is in the south of the country.

The highest mountain in Spain is the Teide, in Canarias.

The highest mountain in Aragón is the Moncayo.

The Guadiana flows into the Mediterranean Sea.

The rivers in the Cantabrian watershed are very long.

The Ebro flows into the Mediterranean Sea. It has many tributaries.