

Cardinal and Robin

There was a cardinal and a robin in a big tree. The cardinal and the robin needed to build a nest. The cardinal was very hardworking and the robin was a very lazy bird. Every morning the cardinal collected small branches for its nest while the robin only sang and slept. One morning the cardinal collected the last branch and with mud it built its nest. The cardinal worked all day.

The next morning the cardinal and the robin wanted to lay their eggs. The cardinal was happy because it had a beautiful nest while the robin was sad because it didn't have a nest. The cardinal felt sorry for the robin and shared its nest with it. The robin promised to work hard the next time.
