REAL-WORLD STRATEGY

Using “though” to give a contrasting idea

Add a contrasting idea with “though” to each statement.

1 There was a flood in the city.
2 Their car broke down yesterday.
3 He fell and hurt his arm.
4 She missed the bus this morning.

There was a flood in the city.

Nobody was hurt, though.

LISTENING

Expressing concern, relief, and a contrasting idea

Put the conversation in the correct order. Then listen and check.

____	Why? What happened?
____	I saw an ambulance in front of your house today. Is anything wrong?
____	No, we're fine.
____	No one was hurt. The ambulance driver is in trouble, though.
____	He drove to the wrong house!
____	What a relief! I was really worried!
