- First, read the instructions. Then, read the questions and think about what the conversation is about.
- The words in the first list can be people, days of the week, buildings, places, countries, towns, books, films, etc
- The words in the second list are from the same set of words (for example: food, toys, colours, feelings, adjectives that describe situations, activities, etc).
- Remember that in the second list, the words you hear are sometimes not the same as the words you read. For example, you might not hear the word funny but, instead, you may hear: (it made me) laugh.
- During the first listening, find out what the conversation is about and choose the best answer for each question.
- Listen to the conversation again and check all your answers carefully.
- Finally, in case you do not know for sure what the correct answer is (in any part of the test), make sure you write an answer anyway.
