

I. Fill the blank with the suitable words given in the box.

The Aztecs were very 1._____ . They believed that their gods 2. _____ the sun to rise, rain to fall, crops to grow and fire to burn. The Aztecs 3._____ that they lived in the fifth or five eras or suns. Eventually this era would come to an end, but they thought that if they kept 4._____ and feeding their gods, the time of 5._____ would be delayed. They fed their gods with human 6._____ , which meant sacrificing people: especially prisoners of war, on top of pyramids in front of temples. They had lots of 7._____ ceremonies to honor their gods. The timing of these was determined by the sacred calendar highlighting important farming events such as planting, rainfall or harvest. Priests 8._____ the rituals. They lived in the temple and spent time 9._____ sacred fires, praying and 10._____ incense. They dyed their bodies black, wore black clothes and never cut their hair.

I. Fill the blank with the suitable words given in the box.

The Aztec men, both 1._____ and commoners, got married when they were about 20 years old. Upper class marriages were arranged, usually by a professional 2. _____. Lower class marriages, parents did help their children decide who to marry, but girls could say no to their parent's 3. _____. They did have the right to 4. _____ who to marry. The bride's family gave a 5. _____ in honor of the marriage.

The feast could last for several days. On the day a woman married, she was carried piggyback, on the 6. _____ of the matchmaker, who delivered her to her new home. The matchmakers were usually old 7. _____.

After the 8. _____ arrived at her husband's home, the bride and groom tied their 9. _____ together in front of the hearth, or cooking area, of his home. Once their coats were tied, they were 10. _____.