Comprehension Passage

Tom and his family love spending time together. Every weekend, they do something special. Tom often says, "I really like going to the park with my family." The park is one of their favorite places to visit. They play games, have picnics, and sometimes ride bikes.

One weekend, Tom's sister, Lucy, had a different idea. "Instead of going to the park," she suggested, "let's go to the beach." Everyone agreed, and they packed their bags for a day by the sea. At the beach, Tom said, "I think it's fun to build sandcastles and swim in the ocean." They spent the whole day playing in the sand and splashing in the waves.

In the evening, the family had a barbecue. "My favorite part of the day is eating together," said their dad. They grilled hotdogs and made s'mores over the fire. Tom and Lucy laughed and told stories as the sun set.

On the way home, Tom thought about the day. "I really like the beach," he said. "Maybe next weekend, we can come here again instead of going to the park." Lucy nodded in agreement, and their parents smiled.
