My life as a dancer

I travel to one or two dance competitions every month, and right now I'm getting ready for a big one! There are many ways to prepare for a competition, but let me tell you what I'm doing.

Practice!

I usually dance two or three times a week, but right now I'm practicing every day. And it's not just me. My dance group really wants to win, so we're all working really hard.

Wear the right clothes

In dance, what you wear is really important. We use our clothes to help tell our story. So we're also working very hard on what to wear.

Be healthy

Dancing is like a sport. You need to be fit. Right now, I'm exercising a lot and I'm avoiding unhealthy foods, too.

Travel

My dance group has twenty members and our competition is in a different city. I'm team leader, so it's my job to get everyone there. I'm looking for bus and train tickets for us and all our equipment.

Relax

It's easy to worry before a competition. Many things can go wrong, but it's very important to relax. I like breathing exercises for this.

Dance competitions are really difficult, but they're great fun, too. They also teach you a lot. If you want to become a better dancer, try joining a dance competition!
