My Job

Hi there, my name is Emily, and I'm from Australia. I have a fantastic job as a tour guide. Sometimes I lead tours on weekends and evenings, but I don't mind because I love showing people around and sharing interesting facts about our country. Most of the time, the tourists I meet are very friendly and eager to learn.

Greetings, I'm Javier, and I live in Mexico. I work with my brother and sister at our family-owned restaurant. We are chefs, and our kitchen is our creative space. The restaurant is located in a lively neighbourhood, so we don't have to commute far for work. It's wonderful to see satisfied customers enjoying our delicious dishes.

Hello, my name is Sophie, and I'm from France. I'm an actress, and I perform in a theatre company. Being on stage is exhilarating, but it also requires a lot of dedication and rehearsals. Although I enjoy the thrill of performing, I sometimes long for a quiet evening at home, reading a book or watching a movie.

Salutations, I'm Rajesh, and I'm from India. I'm a software engineer, and I work for a multinational tech company. My job involves coding and developing innovative software solutions. I spend long hours in front of the computer, but I find it rewarding to see my projects come to life. Occasionally, I collaborate with my colleagues on challenging projects.

Hey, I'm Isabella, and I'm a farmer from New Zealand. I don't have a traditional office job, but I work outdoors tending to my crops and animals. I enjoy being close to nature and witnessing the seasons change. However, farming can be physically demanding, especially during busy harvest seasons or adverse weather conditions.

Different Types of Jobs

Jobs are what people do to earn money and support themselves and their families. There are many different types of jobs, and each job requires different skills and responsibilities.

Some people work in offices. They might use computers to do their work, answer phone calls, or help customers. These jobs are often called office jobs.

Other people work outside. They might build things, fix things, or take care of plants and animals. These jobs are often called outdoor jobs.

Some people work with their hands. They might cook food, fix cars, or make clothes. These jobs are often called hands-on jobs.

Some people work with people. They might teach students, take care of sick people, or help people find things they need. These jobs are often called people jobs.

No matter what type of job you have, it's important to do your best and work hard. Jobs help people earn money, learn new skills, and contribute to their communities.

Daily Routines and Fun Activities

Every day, people have routines they follow to stay organised and do their tasks. These are called daily activities. For example, waking up, eating meals, going to work or school, and doing homework or office work are daily activities.

Apart from daily routines, people also have free time to relax and have fun. These are called free-time activities. Some common free-time activities include reading books, watching movies or TV shows, listening to music, playing sports or games, going for walks, hanging out with friends, and doing hobbies like drawing or gardening.

Both daily routines and free-time activities are important for a balanced life. Daily routines help people stay organised and manage their time, while free-time activities help them relax, have fun, and express themselves creatively.

1. Daily activities are things people do regularly as part of their routines.
2. Free-time activities are only done during working hours.
