Self-Driving Cars

Self-driving cars have some really cool advantages. However, there are also disadvantages to it.

One big advantage is that self-driving cars can help us be safer on the roads. They can react really fast to things like other cars. Self-driving cars too allow everybody to ride. People are too young or old can go to places on their own.

Another advantage is that we will have more time for fun. We can play video games or do other activities while the car drives us. Self-driving cars too are also good for our planet. They can use fuel more efficiently than regular cars.

But there are also some disadvantages. Self-driving cars rely on complicated technology, and if there is problem with the technology, they might not drive safely. These types of cars too might make people who drive cars for a living such as taxi drivers lose their jobs.

Another disadvantage is that self-driving cars might make wrong decisions, like if they have to decide who to protect in an accident. Self-driving cars also could be at risk of hackers. The hackers might try to control them.
