Beach clean-up

Last week, the Environment Club of SMK Taman Hijau organised a beach clean-up. They decided to clean up Pantai Suria. Last year, they cleaned up Pantai Meriah. The beach clean-up was on Saturday. The day before the club members had a meeting. Their club advisor assigned them their duties.

On the day of the beach clean-up, all club members arrived at the school around half past seven. At eight in the morning, the bus left for the beach. They arrived at the beach at half past eight and immediately started cleaning up. Each member was given a black garbage bag. The members wore gloves too.

The beach was dirty with a lot of rubbish. The club members collected plastic bottles, plastic bags, food wrappers, cigarette butts, tin cans and other rubbish. The club members wished the beachgoers would throw away their litter properly. This is because fish, seabirds, sea turtles and other sea creatures can become entangled in or eat the rubbish. This will cause suffocation, starvation and drowning.

The beach clean-up finally ended at half past twelve. The beach looked better and cleaner. The club members were tired but also very satisfied with their hardwork.
