Things not always go entirely to plan on my journey with Alyssa.

- you bring money with you?
- not you?

If this a film, we'd probably be American.

That all your money.

Ironically, I not in my element.

Keep driving. But I not sure sex was something you could just go along with, especially not as a man.

I not have to pay for you. I being fucking polite, actually.

- Why are you defending him? He's a murderer.
- What?
- He in the army.
- He's murdered people.

Alyssa really good at annoying people.

something bad happen to you when you small?

No, I don't want to. I just asking...

- What it like? In the army.
- Ah, it all right, you know.
- you kill people?

I thought you said your mum in Japan?

Alyssa starting to test my patience.

Showing willing the best approach with Alyssa.

Read the phrases and put the words in brackets it the correct form (to do/do/doing)

Let her (know) you're OK.

We should (have) sex.

I kept (under) what sort of sound she'd make when I killed her.

I needed (find) somewhere quiet.

I might as well (join) you.

It's OK for women. They can just (lie) back, (think) of England. Us men, we have (be) England.

You might want (make) a phone call to your mum or something.

I'm gonna go to my dad's. You can (come) if you want.

Well, we can't (drive) it, can we?
I might be able to fix it. We can't just (leave) it.
Do you reckon you can still (fix) it?
What should we (do)?
Go home.
Do you want (go) home?
Hang on. Does he want (go) home?

I'm bad at (apologize) to people, but sometimes I know should.

Sometimes, I just...let things (happen). Even though I didn't want them to.

You know that if people want (do) stuff to you, you don't have (let) them.

- Are you gay?
- No.
- It's OK if you are.
- I'm not.
- But you should (tell) me if you are.
- I'm not gay.
