

Can and Cannot

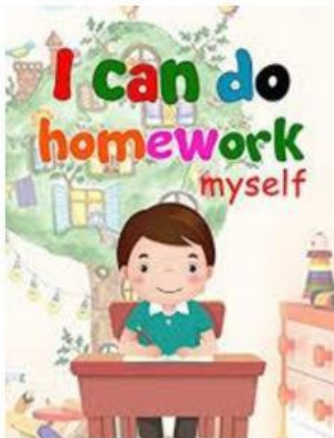

Feedback. Remember that can is a modal verb, Can is used to express ability or to say that something is possible. Can is also the same for all subjects. Therefore, cannot is to express the opposite.

Instructions: In this activity, the student must read the conversations and fill in the blanks with the verb can or cannot.

USE CAN OR CANNOT

Conversation:

A: Hello, how are you?

B: I am fine and you?

A: I am not feel good because I do not do the English homework. _____ you help me with my English homework?

B: Sure! What do you need help with?

A: I _____ do the exercises about prepositions of place. _____ you explain it to me?

B: Of course! I _____ show you some examples.

A: Great! _____ we meet at the library after classes?

B: Yes, we _____. But I _____ stay too long because I have to go to the church.

A: Don't worry! We _____ study for an hour.

B: Sounds good! I _____ wait to help you.

A: Thanks! I really appreciate it.

B: You're welcome. You _____ do it!

