Practice these simple habits into your home routine for a greener lifestyle:

i) Say No to Single Use Plastic Packaging:

When you get a takeaway meal or drink make sure to take a reusable box and cup so you can say no to single-use plastic packaging – which is one of the most common items polluting the environment.

If you can, also use stainless steel or glass containers instead of plastic ones which can be harmful to both the environment and your health, especially when used to reheat food. Plastic is made of components that can leach into whatever it comes in contact with.

ii) Use Canvas Bags Instead of Plastic:

Whether your state has banned the use of plastic bags in grocery stores, or you are trying to be more plastic-conscious, reusable bags are a great way to help the environment. Invest in some inexpensive canvas bags and use them while you're out running errands. Aside from being environmentally friendly – canvas bags are also much sturdier than both plastic and paper and will last you a lifetime if you look after them!

Question 29: What would be the best title for the passage?

A. Some simple eco-friendly habits B. Do not harm the environment
C. Canvas are always better than Plastic D. Plastic Packaging is harmful

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 34 to 40.

Cardboard boxes have become an integral part of modern life, used for everything from shipping packages to storing household items. While they are undoubtedly useful, it's important to consider their impact on the environment.

One of the biggest advantages of cardboard boxes is that they are made from a renewable resource: trees. Unlike plastic, which is made from non-renewable fossil fuels, cardboard can be recycled and reused multiple times, reducing waste and conserving natural resources. In fact, according to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the recycling rate for corrugated cardboard in the United States was 91.4% in 2018.

Cardboard boxes are also biodegradable, meaning they will eventually break down naturally in the environment. This is in stark contrast to plastic, which can take hundreds of years to decompose and often ends up in landfills or the ocean where it can harm wildlife.

However, it's important to note that the production of cardboard boxes still has an environmental impact. The process of manufacturing cardboard requires energy and water, and can result in air and water pollution. Additionally, the transportation of cardboard boxes contributes to greenhouse gas emissions.

Ultimately, the relationship between cardboard boxes and the environment is complex. While they have many environmental advantages over plastic, it's important to consider the entire lifecycle of cardboard boxes and work towards more sustainable practices. By doing so, companies can reduce their environmental impact, appeal to eco-conscious consumers, and contribute to a more sustainable future.

Question 34: What is the main idea of the passage?

A. The production of cardboard boxes impacts the environment badly.

B. The relationship between cardboard boxes and the environment.

C. Cardboard boxes are becoming an integral part of modern life.

D. Cardboard boxes are more environmentally friendly than plastic.

Question 35: According to the second paragraph, what is the greatest benefit of cardboard boxes?

A. they are a part of fossil fuels B. they helps reduce trees

C. they are made from plants D. they can be recycled and reused

Question 36: The phrase "result in" in the 4th paragraph is closest in meaning to _____.

A. bring about B. bring along C. bring up D. bring on Question 37: The word "complex" in the final paragraph is opposite in meaning to_____.

A. medium B. reusable C. simple D. single Question 38: The word "their" in the final paragraph refers to _____.

A. companies' B. consumers' C. practices' D. cardboard boxes'

Question 39: According to the passage, which of the following is NOT an environmental disadvantage of cardboard boxes?

A. They require energy and water to be formed. B. Producing them may cause pollution.

C. Moving them releases harmful gases. D. They need hundreds of years to decompose.

Question 40: What is the author's attitude in this passage?

A. concerned B. blame C. advisory D. explanatory
