

It's not worth it.

LISTENING

A difficult situation

Listen to the conversation. What problem is Fernando having?

What do his friends think he should do?

Do you think it is good advice?

Functional Language

Asking for agreement and agreeing

Listen to the conversation again. Write the missing expressions you hear. Then practice the conversation with your partner. Switch roles.

Rosalia	Have you talked to Fernando lately? He seems a little down.
Oscar	Yeah, we talked last night. He told me he wants to take some computer classes in the evening to get a better job. But he works ten hours every day. That's going to be hard. 1 _____
Rosalia	Yeah, <sup>2</sup> _____. It's hard to work full-time and go to school at the same time.
Oscar	<sup>3</sup> _____ you work in construction like Fernando does. He's always exhausted by the end of the day.
Rosalia	I was thinking, he could take some classes online. That would make it easier, <sup>4</sup> _____?
Oscar	<sup>5</sup> _____. Maybe he can do it on Sundays, when he doesn't work.