Nick Marsh

Musician

Musician Nick Marsh has been in a band since the 1970s. The band used to go on tour every year. I asked him some questions about his touring days.

Did you enjoy going on tour with the band?

Yes and no! I didn't like travelling to different venues all the time and I hated living in hotels for months because I missed my wife and kids! But I loved our fans! The crowds used to go crazy at our concerts. The atmosphere was amazing! That was the best feeling in the world! I loved the music too. We used to write all our own songs together!

What did your concerts use to be like?

They were very colourful! We didn't use to stand on the stage and just play our guitars! We're musicians, but we're also performers. So, we used to put on a great show! We used to wear bright costumes and lots of make-up. There were amazing sets too. The people who worked backstage were awesome because they had to change the set six times during every show! It was a lot of work but great fun!
