

WELCOME TO MALAYSIA

Ipoh and Kampar

Ipoh is a bustling city known for its historic charm and many attractions. It has more restaurants, busier streets, and larger shopping centers compared to Kampar. Kampar, on the other hand, is a quieter town, surrounded by green hills and peaceful neighborhoods. Kampar feels more relaxing and less crowded than Ipoh, making it a great place to escape from the busy city life.

1

2

George Town and Taiping

George Town, a lively city on Penang Island, is famous for its vibrant art and rich history. It's much busier and more colorful than Taiping, a town known for its beautiful lake gardens and calm surroundings. While George Town has taller buildings and more tourists, Taiping is greener and more refreshing, perfect for a quiet day out.

Kuala Lumpur and Kuala Kubu Bharu

Kuala Lumpur is Malaysia's capital city, filled with tall skyscrapers, busy streets, and many shopping malls. It's a lot more modern and crowded than Kuala Kubu Bharu, a small town surrounded by mountains and rivers. Kuala Kubu Bharu is simpler and more traditional, where people can enjoy nature and a slower pace of life, unlike the fast-paced lifestyle in Kuala Lumpur.

3

4

Johor Bahru and Pontian

Johor Bahru is a large city close to Singapore, with heavy traffic and bustling shopping districts. It's busier and more developed than Pontian, a town known for its fishing villages and quiet coastline. Pontian is calmer and friendlier, with a more relaxed atmosphere compared to the busy streets of Johor Bahru.

Shah Alam and Kuala Selangor

Shah Alam, a city filled with universities and shopping centers, is livelier and more modern than Kuala Selangor. Kuala Selangor, a town famous for its fireflies and riverside views, feels closer to nature and is quieter than Shah Alam. While Shah Alam has busier roads, Kuala Selangor offers a more peaceful environment for visitors who enjoy nature.

5

Questions

1. Which place is quieter, Ipoh or Kampar?
2. Between George Town and Taiping, which one has a greener environment?
3. Where would you find more shopping malls, Kuala Lumpur or Kuala Kubu Bharu?
4. Is Johor Bahru or Pontian known for its quiet coastline?
5. Which place is closer to nature, Shah Alam or Kuala Selangor?