Read the following statements. Decide if they are For Euthanasia or an A if it's Against.

a. Alternative Solutions: Advances in palliative care and pain management can improve end-of-life conditions without resorting to euthanasia.

b. Compassion: Allowing euthanasia is an act of kindness and empathy for those who wish to avoid prolonged agony.

c. Economic Considerations: It can alleviate the financial and emotional burden on families and healthcare systems caused by prolonged treatments.

d. Quality of Life: Some argue that a life without dignity, marked by severe illness or pain, is not worth living.

e. Relief from Suffering: Euthanasia can offer a dignified end to unbearable physical pain and suffering caused by terminal illnesses.

f. Respect for Autonomy: Individuals have the right to make decisions about their own bodies, including when and how to end their life.

g. Role of Doctors: It conflicts with the medical ethics of preserving life and could harm the doctor-patient trust.

h. Sanctity of Life: Life is inherently valuable and should not be ended intentionally, regardless of circumstances.

i. Slippery Slope: Allowing euthanasia could lead to abuse or non-consensual euthanasia, especially for vulnerable populations.

j. Social Responsibility: Society should protect its most vulnerable members, including the ill and disabled, from feeling pressured to choose euthanasia due to external factors like guilt or financial concerns.
