bizarre    conventional    dramatic humorous    ~~remarkable~~    stunning

Have you ever been to a 3D art museum? I visited the one in Ho Chi Minh in Vietnam. It is quite 1.....remarkable..... because it's very different to traditional art museums. It's not a 2..... art museum because you can touch the pictures, but also, when you stand in the right place you appear as part of the painting. There are some 3..... countryside scenes of mountains and rivers – so beautiful – alongside very 4..... pictures of fighting dinosaurs! In one rather 5..... scene, which will make you laugh, you can even become the fairy Tinker Bell trapped in a jar. There is also an area with 6..... rooms where floors appear sloped or chairs seem huge. This is one museum that is suitable for everyone.

5 Choose the correct options.

A: What did you think of the Taipei National Palace Museum?

B: It's huge! But, it's not surprising that so many rooms (1) are devoted / are elected / devoted to Chinese artefacts. Apparently the museum owns over 600,000 items!

A: Did you see all the jade items? It's (2) humorous / remarkable / stunning that so many have survived so long. Some of the pieces are truly (3) dramatic / powerful / stunning. I guess it helps that it (4) is prohibited / is regarded / is entitled to touch anything.

B: True! That collection seemed (5) careful / endless / careless, there were so many pieces! But I loved the (6) traditional / faulty / thoughtless Chinese paintings of trees and mountains best.

A: Sure. I also really enjoyed (7) getting around / wandering around / is entitled the Zhishan Garden which (8) was set / was influenced / was established in 1985 and is a very peaceful place to relax for a while.
