

Example of abstract

1. Read the following abstract

Recent studies have suggested that consuming sugary drinks has a significant impact on children's health, particularly regarding obesity and dental health. The research, conducted by the Healthy Kids Organization, analyzed data from over 2,000 children aged 8 to 12. Findings indicate a strong correlation between sugary drink consumption and increased health risks, although some critics argue that lifestyle factors also play a role. The study suggests that reducing sugary drink intake can improve children's overall health outcomes.

2. After reading the abstract, tick the following statement to evaluate the effectiveness of it.

	The abstract mentions specific data of evidence such as number of participants, length of study, methods used?
	The abstract has a specific goal (it persuades, informs or promotes a viewpoint)
	The research is conducted recently and it considers recent developments or current knowledge.