Questions 16–20

Five sentences have been removed from the text below. For each question, choose the correct answer.
There are three extra sentences which you do not need to use.

The giant piano

A young man in New Zealand recently became famous for making one of the largest pianos ever.

Adrian Mann, who now works as a professional piano builder, started building the piano when he was just 16 years old, and made many of the parts for it himself. The piano is 5.7 metres long and is very heavy. And the keyboard actually has keys that are a metre in length. [16] But despite this difference in size, the instrument can still be played perfectly, thanks to Adrian's hard work.

[17] In fact, the whole thing started when Adrian became interested in the materials used for the wires inside the piano. These create the notes when they're hit.

And he found that if the wires were really long, he could get an amazing sound. From there, he went on to build the whole piano.

The instrument was kept inside a church in his town for some time, before Adrian decided it was time to transfer the huge piano from the church to his workshop. [18] So in the end, the fire service had to come and help take the instrument to its new home.

Since the move, a lot of piano players have visited Adrian to try out the piano. But Adrian says that when they arrive, some people aren't very positive about the piano.

[19] But actually, it always performs brilliantly. They soon discover that the piano can play a wide range of music, just like any normal piano.

There's been so much interest in Adrian's piano that he could probably start making and selling others just like it. [20] So, at the moment, he has no plans to make any more.

A However, he put a lot of work into his original model.

B It's so big, you could imagine actually lying down inside it!

C So what gave Adrian the idea to create such a huge piano?

D They expect that the instrument won't sound very good.

E But things weren't always that simple.

F That's much larger than on a normal-sized piano.

G Most of them were surprised by the wonderful result.

H But he soon found he couldn't move it out on his own.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

You are going to read an article about how an old railway station was transformed into a community hub. For questions 31–36, choose the correct answer (A, B, C, or D).

Small-Town Revival

In many small towns, abandoned buildings and unused spaces often go unnoticed. However, in the town of Riverwood, an old railway station has been transformed into a thriving community hub. Once considered an eyesore, the station is now a bustling marketplace where residents and visitors can gather to shop, eat, and enjoy live music.

It all began five years ago, when a group of local residents came up with the idea to repurpose line 6 the abandoned station. They formed a committee, raised funds, and partnered with local businesses to bring the project to life. The station's original architecture was preserved, while modern features were added to make it functional and inviting. Today, the marketplace is open six days a week, offering a variety of goods from fresh produce to handmade crafts.

One of the unique aspects of the marketplace is its focus on sustainability. Vendors are encouraged to use eco-friendly packaging, and food waste is collected and turned into compost for community gardens. The marketplace has not only boosted the local economy but also brought people together in a way that hadn't happened in years. Families spend their weekends there, enjoying the lively atmosphere and supporting small businesses.

Despite its success, the project wasn't without challenges. The committee faced initial resistance from some townspeople who doubted that the idea would work. However, after seeing the transformation and the positive impact on the town, many skeptics have changed their minds.

31. What does the writer say about the railway station in the first paragraph?
A. It was frequently used by travellers.
B. People had suggested tearing it down.
C. It had been a neglected and unattractive place.
D. It was known for its unusual architectural style.

32. What does 'they' refer to in line 6?
A. The local businesses
B. The group of residents
C. The marketplace vendors
D. The visitors to the town

33. What is one of the writer's observations about the marketplace?
A. It is especially popular on weekdays.
B. It encourages people to spend time outdoors.
C. It has become an important part of the local economy.
D. It has limited options for small children.

34. Why did some people in the town initially doubt the project?
A. They thought it would be too expensive to complete.
B. They believed the station was beyond repair.
C. They didn't think the idea would be successful.
D. They preferred to use the space for another purpose.

35. How do people feel about the marketplace now?
A. They are proud of the positive changes it has brought to the town.
B. They worry that it will eventually become too crowded.
C. They regret not supporting it sooner.
D. They wish it included more parking spaces.

36. What does the writer suggest about the marketplace in the final paragraph?
A. It has succeeded despite initial opposition.
B. It is now more popular with tourists than locals.
C. It still faces some financial difficulties.
D. It could expand into other unused spaces in the town.
