

Vocabulary training

Food and Eating

Match each question to its correct answer from the options provided.

1. What's your favorite side dish when you order a meal? _____
2. What was your crash diet like? _____
3. Have you ever spilled the beans about something? _____
4. Is there any food you refuse to eat no matter what? _____
5. What's the difference between gulping and sipping a beverage? _____
6. What does it mean to be a fussy eater? _____
7. What does it mean if someone says, "I have a sweet tooth"? _____
8. If you could try any national cuisine you haven't had yet, which one would it be? _____
9. What's a meal you've overeaten because it was so good? _____
10. Have you ever had to use a corkscrew? Was it easy? _____
11. What's the best house specialty you've ever ordered at a restaurant? _____
12. What's your favorite main course and side dish combination? _____
13. What's a food you were excited to try but didn't like? _____
14. Have you had bad service at a restaurant? _____
15. What's your go-to meal when you're in a rush? _____

- a) I usually grab a sandwich or a slice of bread with some butter—it's quick and filling.
- b) Lasagna! I had second and even third helpings because it was so cheesy and delicious.
- c) Yes, I used one to open a bottle of wine at a friend's dinner party. It took a bit of effort, but I managed!
- d) Yes, I accidentally told my friend about her surprise birthday party.
- e) It helped me lose weight quickly, but I didn't feel very healthy, so I wouldn't do it again.
- f) I was so excited to try sushi for the first time, but it wasn't what I expected.
- g) It means someone is very picky about their food.
- h) I always go for mashed potatoes. They go well with almost any main course.
- i) It was a seafood risotto I had at a small Italian restaurant. It was perfectly cooked and full of flavor.
- j) Yes, I have. Once my order took over an hour to arrive.
- k) It means they really enjoy foods like candy, desserts, or chocolate.
- l) I'd love to try Moroccan — it looks so colorful and full of spices!
- m) I love grilled chicken with a side of roasted vegetables—it's both tasty and healthy.
- n) The first one is drinking quickly in large amounts, while the other is drinking slowly in small amounts.
- o) I can't stand anything with mushrooms—they're just not for me.