One of my favourite ¹*plates / dishes / traditions* is chicken curry. I got the recipe from my aunt and I always make it when we have a big family celebration. It is very easy to ²*prepare / serve / miss* and it only has a few ingredients which you can find at any large supermarket. The spices – ginger, chilli and turmeric – give this curry a little bit of heat. If you have any ³*dishes / allergies / vegetarians* in your family, you can use sweet potato instead of the chicken. I usually ⁴*celebrate / miss / serve* the curry with yoghurt and rice. Sometimes we also have naan, which is a kind of Indian bread. Why don't you find a recipe online and try it? I'm sure you'll agree that it's ⁵*vegan / delicious / raw*!

I went to a fantastic restaurant a couple of weeks ago with some friends from my badminton club. ¹*Anybody / Nobody / Somebody* at work told me about it – they know that I don't eat meat and I'm always looking for good vegetarian places to eat. It's a Thai restaurant and although I don't know ²*anything / something / nothing* about Thai food, the menu looked really interesting! I chose a green curry and it was really delicious. ³*Somebody / Everybody / Anybody* enjoyed their food and I definitely want to go back there. The best thing about it was that it was really cheap – ⁴*nothing / everything / anything* on the menu cost more than $12. There's only one problem – I can't remember the address! I think it was ⁵*anywhere / everywhere / somewhere* near the park. Anyway, I really want to go back soon.
