THE CLASSIC MINI

4.1.

In the late 1950s, there was a petrol crisis in England. Large cars suddenly became too expensive to drive. So, Sir Leonard Lord from the British Motor Company asked his top engineer, Alec Issigonis, to design and build a small car which did not use much fuel and had enough space for four people. That is how the Mini was created. It soon became one of the most popular cars in Britain.

The unique design of the Mini attracted a lot of attention and the car was even used in The Italian Job, a classic British movie about a bank robbery. The main role was played by the well-known British actor Michael Caine, but the real stars were three Minis – red, white and blue. The thieves in the film escaped with the stolen money in these three cars, and there were exciting chase scenes on the streets of Turin.

4.3.

People simply loved the car. Buyers included popular actors such as Clint Eastwood, Goldie Hawn, Kristen Stewart and the iconic pop star Madonna. She loved her Mini so much that she sang about it in one of her songs. Each member of The Beatles drove a Mini. John Lennon's Mini was black with black windows. The popular comedy character, Mr. Bean, had six different Minis and Ed Sheeran bought a Mini as his first car.

4.4.

The British Mini Club was started in 1992. It organizes different events where it is possible to meet owners of the Mini from all over the world. The British Mini Club also offers discounts for its members. Club members can also use an online platform on which they can sell their Mini or buy a second-hand one. They also receive Mini Driver, a magazine with articles and news about their favourite make of car.

DIVE INTO MY WORLD

I lived in central London for many years, but five years ago, I simply quit my job in a gift shop, sold my house and moved to Mexico. There after being trained and getting a certificate, I started work as a scuba diving instructor. My choice of new career met with different responses. My friends supported me, but my family were critical. That's when I started to realise that there are many misunderstandings about diving. People think that it's an extreme sport, which is too risky for a woman. It makes me sad that there are hundreds of women who haven't tried diving because they think it's too dangerous.

Cześć Łukasz,

Co słychać? Muszę Ci opowiedzieć, czym się ostatnio zainteresowałam! Wszystko zaczęło się w momencie, gdy przeczytałam blog, którego autorka postanowiła

5.4. _____. Zaczęła tam pracować jako instruktorka nurkowania. Bardzo zaciekała mnie ta historia. W tym samym czasie dostałam informację od znajomych, że w sierpniu odbędzie się spotkanie z Jane Palmer, która pokonała strach przed wodą, gdy nauczyła się nurkować i zaczęła 5.5. _____ pod wodą.

Postanowiłam wziąć udział w tym spotkaniu. Było super! Ale najlepsze jest to, że dostałam od rodziców niesamowity prezent – opłacony kurs nurkowania. Podczas mojego kursu, który trwa 5.6. _____, nauczę się podstaw nurkowania. Jestem bardzo zadowolona, ponieważ kurs jest bardzo atrakcyjny i nie trzeba 5.7. _____.

To dobrze, bo nie będę miała dodatkowych kosztów. A jak mi się spodoba nurkowanie, to kiedyś sama sobie kupię kurs dla zaawansowanych! Już nie mogę się doczekać!

Pozdrawiam Cię serdecznie,
Anna

Przeczytaj tekst. Z podanych odpowiedzi wybierz właściwą, zgodną z treścią tekstu. Zakreśl jedną z liter: A, B, C albo D.

Lucy Eyelesbarrow was already famous in certain circles. Lucy was thirty-two and a graduate of Oxford. She had a brilliant mind and had been expected to stay and become a professor there. However, she knew that academic work was poorly paid. She had no wish to teach, and she enjoyed contact with people much less brilliant than she was. She also liked money. To gain money one must find something that rich people are willing to pay for. She found out that there are few good housekeepers, and to the surprise of her friends, she decided to become one.

Her success was immediate, and now she is well-known all over Britain. It was quite usual for wives to say joyfully to their husbands, "It'll be all right. We can go on that trip. I've got Lucy to look after the place while we're gone!" Everybody liked Lucy because the moment she came into a house, all worry and hard work went out of it. She did everything. She looked after elderly parents and young children, cooked, was wonderful with dogs and she didn't mind doing whatever people asked her to do. She even mopped the kitchen floor and worked in the garden!

One of her rules was never to accept a contract for longer than two weeks. But, during that time, your life was heaven. You could relax completely. Naturally, the need for her services was huge, so she had been offered enormous sums to accept a permanent job. But that wasn't her dream. She didn't book herself for more than six months ahead. She enjoyed her life and the holidays she could afford to go on.

One day, Lucy got a letter from Miss Marple. They had met two years before when Miss Marple's doctor had arranged for Lucy to come and look after her when she was recovering from pneumonia. Lucy read and re-read the letter. It said that Miss Marple had something unusual for Lucy to do and wanted her to find a convenient place and time to discuss the matter. It was hard for Lucy to make an immediate decision because she was fully booked. But the word "unusual" encouraged her to call Miss Marple and suggest a meeting in London. Miss Marple accepted the suggestion and on the following day they met. After greeting each other warmly, Lucy said: "So tell me what it is you want me to do."

"It's very simple, really," said Miss Marple. "Unusual, but simple. I want you to find the body of a murdered woman."

A NEW OWNER

I was searching the Internet for historic photos of the town of Brunswick. I had moved there after living in Atlanta for many years and became fascinated with the city's rich history. One evening, I found an old guidebook for sale on a collector's website. 7.1. ____ As he lived quite nearby, he said I could come and have a look at it.

When I reached his house, I noticed a "For Sale" sign in the yard. He invited me in and showed me the book. I mentioned the sign and asked him where he was planning to move to. 7.2. ____ "I decided to move there because I'm an online bookseller. I can live anywhere." he explained.

I asked him where exactly his new house was. To my surprise, he mentioned a small town in North Carolina called Murphy. 7.3. ____ They had a house just outside the town on Creek Road, which they had sold before moving to Atlanta. The man was curious to know the exact address of our house on Creek Road. 7.4. ____ "That's the house I've just bought," he exclaimed. A few days later he sent me a photo of his new house and indeed it was my former home.

Na podstawie: <https://improbability-principle.com>

- A. He said he had just bought a house up in the mountains.
- B. Inside the house was nothing but books, floor to ceiling, in every room.
- C. When I told him it was number 13, his eyes opened wide with surprise.
- D. I told him I knew the town because I had lived there with my parents when I was a child.
- E. I emailed the seller asking him about the condition of the book and he replied the next day.
