A Read the text below.

The Value of Working

Working part-time is popular among teenagers. Fast-food restaurants, boutiques, indoor and outdoor theme parks, and cafés are just some businesses that employ teenagers.

Why do they appeal to teenagers? Flexible working hours is one reason. Part-time employees only have to work limited hours or days per week. [1] [ ]

Some get a part-time job to help with the family finances. [2] [ ] There are also some teenagers who want to save for a specific goal such as to buy a computer or mobile phone.

However, a part-time job has other benefits. [3] [ ] Being punctual, responsible, organised and hardworking are just a few habits that they can learn. They can also strengthen their communication skills and learn about teamwork. These skills are important to become confident and independent adults.
