Fill in the blanks with modals of deduction: must, might or can't

Judging by Appearances

The way someone looks ……. reveal a lot about them when you first meet them. They ……..… have a formal occupation, such as that of a lawyer or businessperson, if they are dressed in a suit. A person ……..… be an artist or painter if they are working with paint. However, you ……..…… always rely on your initial impression. A person dressed casually …….…… be a student or someone who works from home. People frequently make snap judgments about other people, and their assumptions aren't always accurate. You have to spend time talking to someone and getting to know their personality if you want to truly know them.
