C. HOMEWORK

I. Read the following passage and choose the correct answer for each of the question.

The celebration of the new year is a deeply rooted tradition in many cultures around the world. For some, it begins with lunar new year celebrations, marked by rituals and customs that bring good fortune. Others celebrate on January 1st with fireworks, gatherings, and the iconic Times Square ball drop.

Writing in a resolution journal or a gratitude journal has become increasingly popular. These practices encourage people to reflect on the past year and set intentions for the future. While both are used for reflection, the resolution journal focuses more on goal-setting, while the gratitude journal highlights appreciation for everyday moments. Food also plays a significant role in new year traditions. In some countries, meals symbolize prosperity and happiness, with certain ingredients thought to bring luck. For example, fish and rice dishes are common during the lunar new year, as they represent abundance and unity. Another popular practice is looking back on the past year with a retrospective, where individuals review their successes and challenges. This not only helps in planning for the future but also reminds people to appreciate their growth and the lessons they have learned.

These traditions, whether through writing, celebration, or food, symbolize the importance of new beginnings and unity.
